Sherman and the Workingmen. Hon, John Sherman:

Do not rest until you are satisfied Dear Sir .- Finding you in the State of that every Democrat in your county my adoption making political speeches, in my opinion not in the interest of the laboring classes of the country, I take the liberty of calling your attention to The lawyer discussing the case which your professions of to-day and your Judge BUCHWALTER decided the other olitical acts of the past. In those official acts in the past

YOU HAVE DONE GREAT INJURY and injustice to the great mass of the workers of the United States. To-day you profess to be the friend of the workingman. Do you mean simply in words, or do you mean real acts of goodness and friendship? The Divine Master said the tree should be known by its fruit.

Therefore, to be brief, I will state that laboring men of the United States have for years striven and worked politically with the hope that the Government would reduce the hours of toil to eight hours per day as a day's task, and when, through their labor organizations, they succeeded in having a bill reported to that effect in the House of Representatives in the Thirty-ninth Congress, 1866, (House Reports, No. 291, Rogers, New Jersey,) their hearts were filled with joy, believing that the Government was about to render unto them tardy justice. But, to their mortification and sorrow, the bill was killed in the committee, the House of Representatives then being Republican. The bill, however, passed the House in the fortieth session, the Democrats voting for it (page | Democratic voters at the polling-places 425 Congressional Globe, first session). Hons, James G. Blaine and John A. Logan were members and present, but said not a word in its favor or gave a vote for it. The bill as passed went to the Senate March 28, 1867 (page 412 Congressional Globe, first session, Fortieth Congress). A dispute arose as what committee it should be referred to. One senator objected to its being referred to the Finance Committee, as it would be sure to be killed there, as you were chairman of the committee, was so ordered to your committee, and, as predicted by the senator, offered the following amendment after the words United States, "and unless otherwise provided by law the rate of wages paid by the United States shall be the current rate for the same labor for the same time at the same place of employment." He opposed on principle anything that would make a laborer for the Government a privileged character and entitled to higher wages than if paid by a private individual. Mr. Buckalew (Democrat), from Pennsylvania, advocated the bill, but opposed Senator Sherman's amendment, saying it would encumber and embar-rass the Government and practically nullify the proposed law. Mr. Sherman then called for the yeas and nays on his amendment, and it was lost. The bill was passed, only one Democrat, and that Mr. Davis, of Kentucky, voting against it. Such was the hostility against the eight-hour law, after it had passed Congress, on the part of Government officials, all Republicans, that General Grant, then President, issued his proclamation, May 19, 1869, which directed the Government officers "that from and after this date no reduction shall be made in the wages paid by the Government by the day to laborers, workmen, and mechanics on account of such reduction in the hours of labor." an anxious public if Ben, Butler is still a good man." MAHONE'S LATEST TRICK. An Election Ticket with Lee's Name and Re-

It purports to the straight Democratic ticket, and the scheme is to distribute it as such among on the day of election. The draft of this ticket was taken to the printing-house of Judd & Detweiler, in this city, yesterday, with a request to have 50,000 copies printed. Judd & Detweiler's manager declined to execute the order on the ground that the time required for it could not be spared from other work in hand, and Mahone's agent was obliged to go elsewhere with his job. The tickets are intended to be distributed among Democratic voters in every district where a close contest for the State Legislature is expected. It is a good imitation of the genuine Demoratic ticket, and it requires close inspection and a knowledge of the names of all the candidates to detect the fraud. The ticket is headed with the name of General Fitzhugh Lee as candidate for Governor and all the other Democratic candidates for State offices ollow in regular order. The fraud consists in substituting Republicans for Democrats as candidates for the Legisla-It was understood in the city yesterday that when Judd & Detweiler refused to do the work the order was taken to Gibson Brothers, but they leny that any such tickets have been printed in their house, or that any such order had been offered to them. Could you, upon oath, Republicans in return for the absolute swear that you feared to remain in ontrol of the Federal patronage of South Boston all night-that any harm Virginia. That such a bargain was would have happened to you? Did not made and kept is a matter of political Hon. Paul C. Edmunds, Hon. R. R. history. Messrs. Sherman and Logan are entirely consistent in still standing by their old confederate; but their addacity in doing it, in the present state Garland and his clerk, Mr. Faulkner, of public opinion and in the face of both assure you that no real danger the poor negro, is almost bewildering. — would protect you if necessary? Are they not both Democrats? Is not the letter from Burkeville, which appeared in the Richmond Whig of last Saturday, a highly-colored and exaggerated account, and is it not a tissue of misrepresentation as to detail from begining to end?

I have known Mr. Gaines several years as a friend, and am still his friend. Terry, and Wilkinson, that is a matter with which I have no concern whatever, They acted upon their own individual responsibility, and, as I have before told about it, the lurid coloring attached to it, and the general air of bluestreaked lightning and brimstone with which the Whig and its correspondents have enveloped it? Mr. Gaines was not inveized into a 'pen "; he was not enticed into a private room; no door was locked upon him and the key put in the pocket of a war-painted "Bourbon"; no knives were drawn on him and flourished in his face : he was not threatened with bludgeons; and although I personally am sorry that anything unpleasant hap-pened to Mr. Gaines, and would have prevented it if possible, still this "outrage" business is a farce and humbug. If any are to be called to account, they are those who perpetrated the so-called "outrage." Those gentlemen did not on that great night, nor do they now, attempt the slightest concealment of their identity, and will always be found ready to assume every responsibility

It is necessary for me to state that this letter is written neither as a justification of the so-called "outrage," nor an assault upon Mr. Gaines, but as a refutation of the slanderous reports that have been circulated to the disparagement of the citizens of South Boston and this entire county, all of which reports are miserable inventions and falsehoods, and to say that no Republicans will be allowed to speak here is the sheerest nonsense and the most pitiable manifestations of childish cowardica and foolishness. At September court Captain P. H. McCaull, probably the most objectionable State canvasser, next to Mr. John S. Wise, the Republican party possesses, delivered, uninterrupted and unrebuked, of his characteristic * attacks upon Democrats. He came here safely, remained here quietly, and departed with every limb intact every vein unruptured. Only five days ago, at our October court, Senator . H. Causey, Mahoneite senator from Nansemond, spoke to the Republicans. He is still alive and now weighs probably more than he did previous to his visit. He enjoyed meeting his old aclarge majority Captain J. O. B. Crocker quaintances in this county, among whom may be mentioned Senator Edmunds and General II. II. Wir. Gaines, stop this political martyrdom. Come to Halifax and see if you do not believe us to be civilized. Respectfully, J. A. PHILLIPS.

Having heard that the Republicans point different from myself, I have not a doubt; but apart from the radiments of the Republican party, both national and State, in which I do not in the least concur, to turn Virginia over to John Sherman and Billy Mahone by adding my vote in the coming election for John S. KIDNAPPERS IN BOSTON. A Little Boy Carried Gif and Pluckity Res ened by His Mother.

A Boston special says: Late yester-day afternoon Mrs. A. C. Pope, of No. 148 Falmouth street, went out to do some marketing. Her little boy Ahrend, aged four, accompanied her. While she was in a fish market at the corner of As to the propriety or impropriety of the action of the Messrs, Lovelace, Rutland and Tremont streets two men, seeing the boy standing in the door, told him they would give him candy if he would go with them. He took the candy and went off up Tremont street between the two men. When Mrs.

mont street, anxiously scanning the groups of children. On arriving at the stables at Roxbury crossing Mrs. Pope saw her child between two men, who were leading the little fellow reluctantly along. She made a rush for the men They saw her coming and seized the boy more firmly. The little fellow struggled and yelled, but they carried him into a house near at hand, Me-Pope rushed after them, and was about to enter, when her son came : ring out crying and flew directly her arms. One of the men came out after him and claimed from the ther a reward, alleging that the boy ha been lost, and he and his companie had found him in the street. The police are searching for the kidnappers
